2012 SUMMER STUDY: HOSPITALITY SUMMER PROGRAM

NEW for 2012, Adelante is offering a 5 week summer Hospitality Management Program for candidates interested in food and beverage management and other program planning areas associated with the hospitality industry.

Study at Ayr College, in the old Scottish town of Ayr on Scotland's scenic south west coast. Located in the Firth of Clyde, you can enjoy panoramic views of the Isle of Arran and the Mull of Kintyre in this beautiful region of Scotland.

5-Week Summer Program:

May 21–Jun 22

Take a course in Event Management and gain first-hand knowledge and experience in marketing, event management, beverage production, food sourcing, menu planning and team working. This course challenges students to organize, market and host an event.

In addition to classroom instruction, students will visit food and beverage establishments in Ayr and neighbouring Prestwick.

As part of the program, you have the opportunity to visit many historical and natural heritage sites of Scotland, including Stirling Castle, Loch Lomond and Edinburgh.

"This is my last week in Scotland. I am very depressed to have to leave such as beautiful country. Yeah Scotland's weather can be very unpredictable, but when it is nice, its gorgeous. I have made several friends not only abroad, but also some from the States. Being away from home made me a little homesick, but knowing I am surrounded by friends that I can trust just puts a smile on my face."

Shelby, Midway College, Scotland 2011

"This weekend we traveled to the Isle of Skye in the Highlands. It was one of the most beautiful places I have ever been! We went across the Skye bridge and stayed in Kyleakin. We hiked to the ruins of a castle in Kyleakin called Castle Moil. We also took a bus to the capital, Portree, and on to Dunvegan to visit Dunvegan Castle which was right on the water. It was an awesome castle that has been owned by the MacLeod clan for over 800 years. We also went on a short boat trip to see Harbor seals. It was so cool!!!"
